Chapter 1 by Brian Tarry

Chapter 1: Whats Happening?

One year ago... A boy and girl, both adventourus and mischevious twins. One named Lisa and the other Liam. In London,2012, January, Thursday the 1st it began. The apocolypse. That year Lisa was aged 17 and Liam was aged 17. How they knew because the Earth started to crack and the sun began to come closer and closer...

The two teens were horrified and there parents,unfortunately,didnt survive the first 'wave.' A 'wave' was a horrible tradegy throughout the year they have learnt a wave began every month but always on a Thursday. Broken wrecks they were after there parents died they havent been their selves. Tsunami, volcanic eruption, earthquake... You name it every natural disaster known to mankind.

Chapter 2: Survival Of The Fittest

The Present: Lisa and Liam celebrated their 18th and 18th birthday in 2013, April, Thursday the 14th unluckily that year was the Thursday the disaster was going to occure. Since a years past thevve met two new cadets, an elderlv man and a middle aged woman. Named Patrick and Liz. They celebrated the day before today so they wouldn't have to survive.

"Ok..." answered the elderly man at the back of the group formation. They marched quietly, more like a tip toe, and broke out into a run when they noticed a zombie flailing his arms which were clinging on by a bone, running, making weird noises. The twins quickly took aim and mowed him down both using a ak47 some bullets found other members of the zombie family making them mad.

Suddenly, three more lifeless walking corpses approached and quickly Liz pulled out the pin of a grenade and flung it so it landed in the middle zombies seeable rib cage 5 seconds have past and the zombies were never back again.

Soon after Patrick congratulated the other three in the gang. "Well Done Liz that was a great sh... AHHHHHHH!" screaming out in pain, Patrick realised that there was another one... The zombie flung its bloody body over the poor man trying to bite into his head. And succeeding. Liam pulled out his pistol and shot it right through its head.

However Patrick wasn't as lucky. Screaming in pain, rolling around on the concrete floor. Liz observed, in her 'past life' she used to be a nurse, she found a big chunk of flesh from Patrick's shoulder had gone. "The little booger found himself nearly biting on your bone, he has done no fatal damage by biting an artery, or breaking your arm," Patrick stared at her, his eyes slowly shutting. Liam and Lisa, the twins, picked him up quickly and brought him back to base putting him on a stretcher they stole when finding resources (food, drink and medical pills and medicine.) Liz was now really scared of the outcome, biting her finger nails she realises she loved horror movies and watched World War Z starring Brad Pitt she thought he was a beautiful man. So she said stuttering to Liam and Lisa "He isn't... isn't going to make it, in other horror... horror films they have a big chance of turning into a zombie when bit by one."

The twins panicked and ran round the room thinking, sweating, they finally thought of a solution they would find a cure. Liam said "Yes! There's a big chance that scientists kept this news from us so they wouldn't scare us or make attention. Now they had to think where to get it. There was a lab in Oxford where they have come up for a lot of things. So they headed there...

Chapter 3: The Cure

Armed up, ready to go, the twins decided for themselves to go and for Liz to look after Patrick.

A while later, the twins finally arrived to Oxford's lab. Lisa riding a car and Liam drove a moped. The zombie obviously wanted the... See more of Story Wars... as they could try not to make attention. Anyway... pills and medicine... quickly tugged at Liam's...

jeans and successfully pulled the poor lad over and off his feet Lisa reacted quickly shooting the brains out of the undead person. Liam congratulated her and dashed to look for a sign. They found it... It was in a beaker and the liquid was slimy and green, moving as if it was alive. They snatched it quickly and replaced it with a bloody zombie head (like an Indiana Jones booby trap.) Running as fastly as they could until they 'met' a zombie, one eye hanging out of his eye socket, it leaped for them but both twins dropkicked it over and turned around and shot it in its heart it crumpled to the ground like a stone.

They saddled up, back on they motorised vehciles, and rode back to 'base.' They got there just in time as Patrick was tied to a chair snapping his teeth like a blood-thirsty cannibal. They jotted his head back and poured a drip of the cure down his throat. 1 hour later... he felt better and at the right time because the end of the day was near.

"Great! Now we have to gather food and other resources so we can survive next months Thursday." Liz bellowed. "At least we can relax at midnight" Liz suggested. They looked out through some binoculars noticing that all of the undead was gradually falling and then they all vanished. Lisa who was a big fan of the hunger games thought to herself 'Its like were in a big arena and people are sending in these terrible disasters.' Liz was also thinking 'Its like the cabin in the woods but around the whole world and aliens are causing these disasters.'

Chapter 4: The Puppeteers

Two slimy, slivery, greasy aliens feet perched at the desk was ready for the next month coming ahead. Last months theme was World Z. Next theme is Earth Cracked, basically an earthquake but every damage done to the enviroment never rubs off so a crack could open any where and the humans would barely survive the fall some cracked go to the core some are only small but where ever the cracks appear theres danger. "Wobllly bip bop (Are you excited for the next wave.)" Bobbity the alien excitedly said. "Bob Boilility Bobbity (Yes I am, Bobbity)" answered Libibity. Above the atmosphere of Earth they laughed and belllowed and were having fun wiping out the human race.

While mankind had to try and survive until the aliens decide that everybodys dead... Bobbity and Libibity had all monitors and screens so they can watch them and decide where to put the Earths wave/crack. Until everybody had died they would NOT stop. Flying birds which the Aliens have made have cameras on them so they can see what is going on. Processing the image to the aliens.

Chapter 5: The Terrors Have Hit

The team had the whole month partying until today, Thursday... Instantly realising that it was the Earth's Cracks. Suddenly... A pipe blew some where in the base and then a giant gorge grew beneath their feet the base getting no support under itself and gradually bits fell into the ravine. This one was bad they all could see the Earth's core beneath their dangling feet. The heat hit them so they began to move. Knowing this day would come they had all trained and built pipes on the ceiling so they could climb them to safety like monkey bars which they had all played on at school. But this game was different if dropped and lost grip you would die. They all were sweating from the heat causing them to sweat which was bad the sweat would make their hands watery and soon they would be falling like flies hit by a swatter.

They reached the edge of the crack and landed on the soil but there was only three of them... Liam, the youngest, was losing grip. Lisa went back in and pulled him along making sure he wouldn't fall. But then something terrible happened. Liam dropped. Reacting quickly his sister held with one hand on the bar and grabbed his sweaty hand. She soon would drop so she shouted "I'm going to swing you to the others and they will catch you!" "Ok..." Liam replied unsurely. The twins swung in unison to create momentum and she threw her brother so he landed in Patrick's and Liz's arms. Lisa pulled herself together, out of the situation and swung back to safety.

5 minutes later... The structure which they called their base was no longer there. They all sighed and all repeatedly said "We need to head for an open space!" And they ran searching for a place. Liam spotted one. He shouted to make the group know and they followed like baby ducks following their mum. They reached the open meadow (since if they took cover the building would collapse on them.) Liam thanked Lisa for saving his butt back there she just excused herself by saying "You're my brother..." And they both hugged each other. "Thanks for always helping me and being with me every step of this horrible and terrifying adventure." Liam politely answered. So the day had passed luckily not hearing from another crack 'Thank god' they thought. But what they didn't know that god was an intruder they were aliens...

Lisa spotted a beautiful pheasant soaring through the sky. She wondered how there was any birds left. BANG! The bird fell onto the field in front of her she looked around and saw Patrick smuggly holding a rifle. Lisa ran up to him and shouted madly "Why did you kill that beautiful bird?"

"I knew it!" shouted Liz from behind coming out of nowhere "Its exactly like cabin in the woods." "What are you on about..." The others consecutively answering. Liz replied to all of her team mates "Cabin in the woods was a film where people were being put through horrible events. And the people were sending the monsters into the cabins surroundings. But somehow they have found away to send it into the whole world." Patrick, Lisa and Liam questioned back "Like a Puppeteer?..."

Chapter 6: Travelling To Space

The group look puzzled and then looked up... "Were being watched by aliens..." Back in the 'space office' Bobbity and Libibity gazed at each other mouths open wide. "Bobbity bobby bob uf (Bobbity they know us,) Libibity whispered. "Libibity wo ha bo gob bout ob ha (Libibity we have to get out of here,) answered Bobbity. Anyway back to the 'humans.'

Liam shook his clenched fist to the sky and shouted "YOU KILLED OUR PARENTS YOU MONSTERS!" Patrick corrected "There most likely to be aliens Liam." "Shut Up, What ever they are they took our parents from us." Liz suggested "If its like Cabin In The woods then there must be away to there spaceship or base." Liz said. "Wait a sec" Lisa said taking the moment in "If there is a way... wait i think I got something remember that crack to the core..." "Yes..." Urged the team. "Well to my calculations remember the light which was 'supposed to be the core.'" "What are you getting at" Liz said. "Well the core is supposed to be yellow, red and orange like the sun, but I realised it was Purpley Blue like a portal colour." Patrick growled "Are you suggesting we jump into the Earths core?" "Well...Yes... I dont see why not." Liam, Patrick and Liz look confused and were all thinking 'is she trying to get us killed.'

So because nobody else had a better idea they went back to the ravine leading to the Earths core and looked down it to see a weird coloured light. "Lisas right it is purple..." "Well then whos going first?" Questioned Lisa excitedly. Nobody raised their hands. So Lisa began, nobody stopped her they just murmured "Good Luck... Youre going to need it." Lisa geared up with a pistol in a holster, an AK 47 in her backpack, a bullet belt and a some grenades also in her backpack. "I will need that rope..." pointing her finger at the object. Liam walked to get it and passed it to his twin sister. She suggested to tie the rope around her and let her abseil down the gorges wall.

She slowly bounced off rock to rock one step a way when... A green greasy hand grabbed her... back and forth Lisa shouted quickly "I think..." to the void. The team pulled the rope up but quickly noticed something had gone... Lisa...

Chapter 7: The Interrogation

Lisa having banged her head on the metal floor was unconscious until something touched her... Two slimy green figures towered over her. She screamed and an Libibity put his sweaty, greasy hand over her mouth. The trio which was left of the so-called team was scared of what they would do to Lisa. They all courageously jumped and plummeted to towards the core. BANG They also fell onto the metal floor leaving Lisa a chance to fight she swiped for her pistol holster and pulled up a gun aiming it at the aliens.

Both aliens put a weird chip on there neck and surrendered immediately Lisa new what the chip was for to speak English. Libibity announced " Im Libibity and this is Bobbity we are the horrible, selfish aliens who have been spying on you for a year putting you through terrible situations and ruining your planet." Lisa quickly interrogated them. "Why are you trying to kill us, torture us and ruin our planet?" Bobbity replied "Because our home is being invaded by other aliens so we have to take shelter we are space commanders trying to look for a new home, our old planet is being tortured, so we decided to take our rage on you." Libibity confessed "We didnt really hurt your planet we can click a button and it will instantly regenerate." Lisa looked confused. Then Libibity continued saying "We didnt kill your parents we kidnapped them feeding them, our spaceship is so big the whole world is in it everybody you know nobody died." "We just took them but we fed them theres a 5 star cafeteria and there also is a celebrity lounge." Lisa puzzled, just as she was about to thank you the group woke up all pointing there guns at the duo. Lisa bellowed "Dont shoot..., They are good aliens they just wanted to know how intelligent we were." Lisa whispered in a group formation "Our relatives and world wide are safe they are all in this massive space ship being treated well."

Liam gazed at the aliens and ran up to them and hugged them even though they are slimy and green. Liam bellowed "show us to our parents... NOW!" The aliens listened to the boy and opened a door showing 1 billion or more rooms with numbers up to a billion. "Your family live at number 200." Bobbity suggested looking at a long list of room numbers and there familys surname. Lisa and Liams surname was Desford. The twins sprinted down the hallway they found the 200th door up the stairs (there was 20 floors of 250,000,000 rooms) Liam knocked as fast as he could and then a middle aged man opened it he was 47. "Hello?"

growled "Surviving!" "Who are you?" asked Alice (the Mum.) "My name is Patrick this is Liz we have been looking after your twins on earth surviving every 'wave.'" David and Alice looked puzzled (David is the Dad.) David questioned "Whats a wave?" "Its a natural or alien-made disaster where we were put into survival instincts and have been gathering resources and we found a portal to this spaceship." Patrick butting in "YOUVE HAD 5 STAR CATERING!" "Yes..." replied Alice who was now scared.

The aliens have kidnapped you "What aliens...What aliens...What aliens," "Mum, Dad why are you stuttering?" Liam and Lisa concerned. "What aliens...What aliens..." They continued until there eyes turned red. And both of there heads exploded in unison. Ketchup spewed over the room. Liz said "I think Ive lost my appetite." Liam sobbed kneeling on the floor and realised they werent watching the aliens...

Chapter 9: Killing The Puppeteers

They turned around consecutively and both aliens were now holding space guns -futuristic guns made by alien generation- The group immediately forced there hands up. Now noticing the not-so-trustworthy pair of aliens were creating replica robots to mimic the humans. On the side of the white and blue long nossled guns enscribed 'Space Oddisee your Death!' The group shivered and chattered their teeths not including the old man he only had 4 on his top jaw and 6 on the bottom (he basically had 10 teeth.) Patrick had not seen there weapons anywhere but... Lisas backpack hadnt been took. Patrick nodded to Lisa since the aliens were leading them to another room not looking behind them. Patrick whispered to Lisa "You still have that AK 47..." Lisa nodded to the thought.

She pretended to scratch her back and then slowly took out the machine gun. Aiming it at the intruders. She swiftly shot one in the head (Libibity) alarming Bobbity who turned around pointing the weapon at the teen girl. However not quick enough Bobbity crumpled to the ground as Lisa shot his selfish and evil heart. The bunch began celebrating but then they had seen there surroundings they were in the cafeteria. The group were thinking of what the space commanders said 'We have 5 STAR CAFETERIA' but who runs the cafeteria?

jelly green blood to land on them. Lisa said "Heads up," and threw a grenade to Liam and Patrick. They both pulled their pins and lobbed it trying to land in the women aliens mouths both successful they both exploded and body parts landed everywhere.

They returned to the cockpit of the space ship and planted grenades all on the dashboard and the weird alien sci fi buttons but before that Lisa remembered and flicked the trigger to regenerate the earths enviroment and all of the animals and humans began to appear. She pulled the accelerator and waited until it was far away from Earth she demanded the others by saying "Pull the pins!" they all did as she said. Everbody ran out into the portal landing on the roof of a building since the building was there base. Lisa was last out when... A green goey arm held her back it was Bobbity still with his translator on "But I shot you" Lisa suggested. "Well! I have two hearts..." He pulled her further from the portal she kicked him in the gut and ran for the portal she entered and landed safely on the base with the others. The team looked up and saw a giant explosion all looking through their binoculars.

An middle aged man walked past the building with his wife. "Mum...Dad, Are you real?" Liam shouted tears streaking down his face. David replied "Of course we are son", "Lisa, Liam are you ok?" asked Alice. "Mum...Dad" Liam and Lisa leapt into their parents arms...

1 year later...

- Liam,Lisa,Alice and David are know a happy family.
- Patrick and Liz are now married and have friends, the Desford Family.
- Area 51 have found an alien described the same as the Liam and Lisa. They researched it and then killed it stabbing its other heart, sightings of alien flesh have also been located around the world. Bobbity and Libibity and The alien women caterers have all been found dead.

But somewhere out there the other aliens who took over the space commanders planet are coming for Earth...
